KurzbeschreibungWhat if looking at the face of the man you loved meant death? Years ago, warrior Durren Drakkonwehr was cursed by a mage. Now feared and reviled as the Shadow Man, he keeps to himself, only going to town to trade rare bloodstones--petrified dragon's blood--for supplies. Though he hides his face, he can't hide his heart from the woman who haunts his dreams... Needing bloodstones for a jewelry commission, Mirianna and her father journey across the dreaded Wehrland where the beast-men roam. When their party is attacked, only the Shadow Man can save them. Strangely drawn to him, Mirianna offers herself in return for her father's rescue. Living in the ruined fortress with the Shadow Man, Mirianna slowly realizes that a flesh-and-blood man--not a fiend--hides there in hoods and darkness. But are love and courage enough to lift the curse and restore the man?This is a new release of a previously published edition.

ber den AutorAn Army brat with a yen for travel and a fascination for history, I majored in German and English and have taught creative writing and composition. I have lived in Germany, studied in London, traveled in Japan, Scotland, Ireland, and the Caribbean, and proudly dipped my fingers into the waters on the east and west coasts of both the Atlantic and the Pacific, yet my roots are solidly Midwestern. Growing up, I read fairy tales, Tolkien, The Scarlet Pimpernel, Agatha Christie, Shakespeare, and Ayn Rand, an unusual mix that undoubtedly explains why the themes, characters, and locales in my writing play out in tales of love and adventure.
