Von Detra Fitch Miss Gwendolyn Townsend saw her late father's estate go to a distant cousin. Penniless, she sailed to America for employment as governess. When summoned by her late father's solicitor she returned to England to learn she HAD been left a small income and would not have to seek employment any longer. Marcus Holcroft, the Earl of Pennington, would reach the age of thirty within a few months. The solicitor informed Marcus that he must wed by then or lose his current fortune. Marcus wanted Gwen as his bride but had no clue as how to convince her. She claimed she would never marry! Gwen soon learned that her sister and brother-in-law had died and entrusted the care of their three daughters to her! Gwen never knew she had three nieces (now between the ages of ten and fourteen) or how to care for children. After all, her time as a governess showed her that she did not get along well with children. It did not take long to begin adoring them though. Problem was that her small income would not support them all. It was time to make a bargain with an Earl. ***** THIS ONE IS A SHEER DELIGHT! You won't have any boredom while reading this story. Author Victoria Alexander has written a winner that will create many new fans of her writing skill. Highly recommended reading.

Kurzbeschreibung Distressed over the current widespread disinterest in matrimony among their eminently marriageable offspring, the formidable matriarchs of the ton have taken matters into their own meddling hands with the formation of The Ladies' Society for the Betterment of the Future of Britain. Their first challenge: the Earl of Pennington. Miss Gwendolyn Townsend has seen her late father's estate go to a distant cousin she can't abide ... leaving her well-educated, able to make a perfect curtsy -- and penniless. So imagine her shock when it's discovered that a match had been arranged between herself and Marcus Holcroft, the Earl of Pennington -- one of the most eligible members of London society. Marcus constantly leaves her breathless and confused ... and though she's hesitant to marry a man she's just met, in the end she has no choice. But she makes some conditions first ... Marcus cannot believe that the bride who has been foisted upon him is insisting on rules to their wedding ... and bedding! He's a man who has never had to tempt any woman into his arms. But even more surprising is that Gwendolyn is clearly hiding something -- and it shocks him to think that their exquisite kisses -- followed by his lessons in passionate lovemaking -- wouldn't be enough to make his wife tell him her every secret. After all, he's promised to be a proper husband -- isn't it fair to also expect a proper wife?
