Courtesy of Teens Read TooVon TeensReadTooThe Earl of Gunthar has been sent by King Henry II of England to assure obedience to the terms of the peace treaty with Prince Richard and his rebellious followers. Because eighteen-year-old Helne de Laurant's father was one of Richard's supporters, King Henry believes an arranged marriage between

Gunthar and Helne's sister is the only way to assure Laurant's loyalty. But loyalties are questioned when several assassination attempts are made on Gunthar's life and are linked to people close to the Laurant family. Now, Helne must try to prove her loved ones' innocence by revealing the true killer in their midst. As she struggles to unravel the truth, she discovers secrets, blackmail, intrigue, and finds herself drawn into a forbidden romance. Helne becomes tangled in a web of loyalty and is unsure whether to reveal the secrets of loved ones or keep quiet and risk losing the man she loves. DiPastena has woven a wonderful tale set in twelfth-century France. Full of action, romance, and conspiracy, LOYALTY'S WEB drew me in and held me as I traversed the maze of twists and turns to the very last page. I believe this sweet romance with ingenious plot twists will appeal to both adults and teens. It was my pleasure to be ensnared in LOYALTY'S WEB, and I look forward to DiPastena's next novel, ILLUMINATIONS OF THE HEART. Reviewed by: Joan Stradling

Kurzbeschreibung Helne de Laurant has not forgotten how the Earl of Gunthar destroyed her father's castle during Henry II's war with his sons. Apparently neither have her family and friends, for when someone tries to murder Gunthar, every sign points in their direction. Helne realizes the only way to prove her loved ones' innocence is by exposing the true assassin. As Helne and Gunthar spar over the identity of the traitor, fierce determination gives way to mutual attraction. Helne must race against time, and dark secrets of the past, to unmask the would-be killer before the kingdom plunges back into war and takes the life of the man she has unexpectedly learned to love. Poitevin Hearts, Book 1: Men and women living and loving amidst the political intrigues of medieval Poitou (a region of France once ruled by the Kings of England.) Loyalty's Web is a PG-13 rated historical romance. The Poitevin Hearts romance series is linked together by recurring characters, but each title is written as a stand-alone novel. They can therefore be read and enjoyed in any order. Additionally, some characters in this series appear in titles not listed as a Poitevin Hearts romance. If you wish to read about the characters chronologically, the titles in order would be as follows: Loyalty's Web (Poitevin Hearts, Book 1) Illuminations of the Heart (Poitevin Hearts, Book 2) Loving Lucianna (Hearts in Autumn, Book 1) Dangerous Favor (Poitevin Hearts, Book 3) The Lady and the Minstrel

Synopsis In twelfth century France, King Henry II of England has just finished quashing a rebellion by his power-hungry sons and now seeks to tame the lawless barons who supported them in this corner of his "Angevin empire." To this end, the king has sent the Earl of Gunthar as his royal representative to ensure that Prince Richard and his former cohorts faithfully adhere to the terms of the peace treaty. Far from being welcomed with open arms, Gunthar no sooner steps foot in the county of Poitou than he is greeted by a series of assassination attempts. All appear to be linked to the former rebellious prince through the agents of the family and friends of young Helene de Laurant. A clever, intrepid young woman, she realizes that the only way to prove her loved ones' innocence is by exposing the true assassin. Helene races against time-and dark secrets of the past-to unmask the killer before the kingdom plunges back into war. Fierce determination gives way to mutual attraction as Helene and Gunthar spar over the identity of the traitor. But their blinding magnetism almost causes them to overlook an even deadlier threat from an entirely unexpected direction.
