A FITTING FINALE TO AN EPIC SERIES.,Von customerThe perfect companion for all Roman military history enthusiasts is the ROMA VICTRIX WINE BEAKERRoma Victrix Wein BecherThe ultimate sequel in this excellent series does not disappoint, the narrative is fast paced, well written, with intrigue and subtle humour, at the same time a moving and compelling tale. Without giving away spoilers, the Final Campaign brings home to the reader the absolute loyalty and depth of comradeship that exists between soldiers who have faced death in battle, from the highest ranker to the lowest. All in all Ron Peake in his Final Campaign has penned a fitting and poignant finale to an EPIC series. I am looking forward to the next generation with anticipation.

KurzbeschreibungIn the final installation of the bestselling Marching With Caesar-Titus Pullus series, Camp Prefect Titus Pullus participates in his Final Campaign, the invasion of Thrace by the Governor of Macedonia, Marcus Primus. Although claiming that the expedition has the blessing of the Roman now referred to as Augustus, the reality turns out to be far different, and Pullus finds himself embroiled in the toughest battle of his career. Making it more difficult, his final fight will be conducted not on a battlefield, but in Rome itself, in a courtroom, pitting Titus against some patricians of Rome who are determined to make an example of a man who dares to try and improve his circumstances and standing in the rigid hierarchy of Roman society. The question that plagues Titus is: What side is Augustus on?
