KundenrezensionenHilfreichste Kundenrezensionen0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. Good reading...Von Detra FitchMajor Maxwell "Max" Leighton is a brilliant military tactician. In the year 1813, during the Peninsular War, Max went to an isle in the Mediterranean, Cyrene, on a mission of mercy. One of his lieutenants had lost a leg and was dying. Caro Evers nursed the lieutenant back to health and lost her heart to Max. Max and Caro spent one lovely time together before he went back into battle. In late 1814, Caro travels to London to seek out Christopher, Viscount Thorne. Caro and Christopher are part of a secret service, the Guardians of the Sword, based on Cyrene. The Guardians' leader, Sir Gawain Olwen, needs Christopher to help on a mission. It seems that "Bella" has been taken captive by Barbary corsairs (pirates) and enslaved in Algiers. Christopher is to travel to Algiers and locate her position. Max just happens to be with Christopher, his close friend, when Caro finds him. Of course, Max returns to Cyrene to help plan the rescue. Caro is not only worried that Max will learn about the Guardians, but also about her reaction to seeing him again. A fast paced book with an intricate plot that I cannot help but enjoy. However, there are too many adult scenes and it detracts from the story, itself. I finally reached the point of skimming the adult scenes just to get on with the plot. The love scenes became to seem as filler material. Overlooking that though, the story is excellent and the writing superb. Reviewed by Detra Fitch of Huntress Reviews.

From Booklist When Major Max Leighton arrives at Cyrene with one of his wounded men, Caro does everything she can to help but secretly yearns to tend to Max. Once he accepts Caro's invitation to indulge in one night of passion, he realizes that she relieves his great emotional pain. While in London, Max is haunted by memories of the bewitching Caro, so he gives in to temptation and returns to the mystical, magical isle only to discover that Caro is even more unusual than he imagined.
