It was for free Von Querleser Well, that and there weren't many typos - but that is all I can praise about this book. After focusing on a sad Dean with Matt totally absent for about half of the book (and yes, the first part was slow and rather drawn-out and boring ...) Matt appears out of nowhere and the rest is a complete rush. Comforting freshly single Matt after his break-up end in having sex (rebound?) and proclaiming love. The misunderstanding with the strange text message was overly constructed and unbelievable - why can't they just talk? Wasn't they supposed to be in / start a relationship? Have a life together? I prefer to have nice MCs who get to know each other (okay, being best friends, they do know each other), fall in love, start a serious relationship etc. Here I just wondered if it is a rebound fling. They weren't really good as a couple they only got along in bed and as friends. As partners/lovers they just weren't really involved. It was not convincing at all to hear them proclaim their love and have a HEA/HFN or any happy future as a couple at all. 0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. It started off not so great but turned out pretty good Von Ari In the beginning I wasn't sure what to expect of the story, but decided to read it anyways. I can't say I regretted it. It's cute and well put together and doesn't feel rushed or over the top at all, as I had feared in the middle. A nice, quick read :) 0 von 0 Kunden fanden die folgende Rezension hilfreich. Dean has always wanted Matt, wanted him, wanted him more than friends Von Al-Khemet Book Club The spellbinding tale of Dean Matt takes life in the mind of M/M Romance author Nic Starr, it's a beautiful tale of unrequited love. We have all been there, longing for someone we cannot have and feeling the pain of it all. Dean has always wanted Matt, wanted him, wanted him more than friends, but his hopes become shattered when Matt moves away with his partner, broken and wounded Dean attempts to move on, only to later receive a call that Matt's relationship failed. Dean's dreams re-awakens. And his hope for true love restores. Will they embark of a breathtaking love tale? Will it last? Read this highly recommended, spellbinding tale to find out. Al-Khemet Book Club JUL 2015

Kurzbeschreibung This is the story of best friends Dean and Matt. Friends since childhood, they are close but not as close as Dean would like them to be. When Matt moved to Melbourne with his partner, Dean finally let go of his dream for them to one day be together. But when Matt calls to say his relationship has failed, Dean dares to feel a glimmer of hope. But he needs to overcome his own fears if he is to fight for their happily ever after. This story was written as part of the MM Romance Group's 2014 Love's Landscapes event. The story was written in response to a photo prompt with a very specific request for a story. Melanie requested the following "Hes been waiting for that text for more than a week. Please tell us either what happens next or what happened to get him here and whether he frowns or smiles next."
