Kurzbeschreibung A pharmaceutical mishap draws Rabbi Small into a murder investigation in this New York Times bestseller. New Age thinking has come to Barnards Crossing, Massachusetts. The recently elected president of Rabbi David Smalls synagogue is intent on using temple money to build a meditation retreat. The congregation is practicing yoga, buying crystals, and reciting chants. When a troubled young man returns to the town after spending time in a controversial Hasidic cult, the rabbi expects him to be another New Ager. But things take a grisly turn away from new-fangled mantras of peace and love when something terribly old fashioned happens: murder. An elderly patient dies after being given the wrong medication by the local pharmacist, who coincidentally is also the Hasidic mans father. When the dead mans family suggests the mix-up was intentional, both the druggist and his son become suspects and its up to Rabbi Small to investigate by drawing on some Old Testament wisdom in a village of New Age fads.
