Von Kathy Love : What A Demon Wants (Bourbon Street) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised What A Demon Wants (Bourbon Street):

The demon and the bodyguardVon Helen HancoxBodyguard-falls-in-love-with-client is hardly an original plot idea (Whitney Houston and Kevin Costner spring to mind). However this is 'I Will Always Love You' with a difference - the difference being that our hero, at least, is immortal. A mixture of vampire and demon, he's feeling jaded with his world and hoping to change career; babysitting Ellina Kostova, reclusive author, should bring him the money he needs to finally give up the violent life of a bodyguard. Only Ellina is a bit different than your average woman, being a half-demon. She doesn't think she's in danger but there are plenty of people around who don't like her and she seems to be being stalked. When her brother employs Jude Anthony to work as her bodyguard she is resistant - until she gets a good look at him. This story was all pretty predictable. The focus was mainly on Jude and Ellina and their interactions, so much so that it was pretty obvious who the stalker was amongst the sparse group of secondary characters. I didn't find this book particularly convincing and neither character was particularly strongly drawn, but it was an OK read for a quiet evening. Kurzbeschreibung She's No Angel A bodyguard? Why in the world would a demon need a bodyguard? Yes, it's true Ellina Kostova is only half demon. . . and an author with a cult following, but that just means strange stuff happens. She isn't in real danger. Heck, she's in more danger from Jude Anthony, the guy her brother has hired to protect her. In big danger, actually. Because she just cannot be attracted to. . . well, anyone. She's too much of a demon in bed. No, really. Jude has grown accustomed to being an outcast, adrift in both the mortal and preternatural worlds. Being a paid fighting machine isn't glamorous, but he does it--and many other things--spectacularly well. And man does Ellina Kostova need a lot of protection. But he needs protection, too. She's making him remember what it feels like to be human. And he's already learned no good can come of that. Especially when he's been hired not only to protect her--but also kill her. . . "Fangs for the Memories will make you laugh until milk comes out of your nose. No, really."--MaryJanice Davidson Kurzbeschreibung She's No Angel A bodyguard?
