Struggling in an industry she knows nothing about, Brooke turns to Saxon, her husbands best friend and business partner, for guidance and support. Their mutual grief, and Saxons need to look after his best friends wife, creates a connection beyond just business.Can Brooke take over the company and find a new life without saying goodbye to the past? Can Saxon protect and care for Brooke without scaring her away?What happens when your heart doesnt listen to your head? When lines are crossed and boundaries are pushed?Life goes on, whether you choose to move forward and take a chance in the unknown or stay behind, locked in the past, thinking of what could've been. I dont want to live in the past anymore. Im so lonely; theres nothing for me here.
